SINGAPORE NIGHT FESTIVAL PRESENTS EXCITING AND ECLECTIC LINE-UP OF ACTIVITIES WITH LOCAL ARTISTS AT THE FOREFRONT

The festival unveils its full line-up of over 55 programmes taking place in the Bras Basah.Bugis precinct, casting a spotlight on local artists and their works

Singapore, 2 August 2022 – Whether you're a history buff looking to discover hidden stories about the Bras Basah.Bugis (BBB) precinct, or a festival connoisseur seeking innovative new experiences that spark conversations, the Singapore Night Festival (SNF) has something for everyone. From 19 to 27 August 2022, SNF returns with the theme Rebirth for its 13th edition. This year's festival will zoom in on the BBB precinct's heritage and stories through an iridescent line-up of experiences, with a greater focus on programmes and artworks by local artists.

2 Festival Director David Chew said, "The Singapore Night Festival (SNF) is returning after a two-year hiatus. We are going hyperlocal by zooming into the myriad of intriguing and intimate stories of the Bras Basah.Bugis precinct and its people, and celebrating all that our local artists and community have to offer. In doing so, we are also presenting brand new commissions by local artists, and providing them opportunities to show their works, develop their capabilities and take on new challenges. In turn, our artists and BBB partners, many of whom have been in the precinct for a long time, lend their dynamic energy to the festival and present festival-goers with fresh, innovative offerings and experiences. We hope that all festival-goers will find meaningful experiences at the festival, and be able to connect with the precinct and its stories like never before."

3 At this year’s SNF, the Bras Basah.Bugis (BBB) precinct will come alive with highlight act Cathay Hotel: The Curse of the Missing Red Shoe, by local art collective Vertical Submarine, six projection mapping installations, 15 Night Lights installations, five performance locations, five experiential programmes and a Festival Village abuzz with an array of music performances and food and beverage experiences.

Projection Mapping Installations | Bringing the precinct to life

4 SNF’s popular projection mapping installations return with six works illuminating iconic buildings in the city. Rediscover Singapore’s mythical origins at the National Museum of Singapore with Stories from Forbidden Hill by Maxin10sity, then head to the National Archives of Singapore for a colourful throwback to the cinema of times past with Midnight Show at the Capitol by MOJOKO, which revisits the classic movie posters that used to adorn the walls of Capitol Theatre and Cathay Picture House.

5 SNF continues to serve as a platform for local talent to showcase their works, collaborate, and grow their capabilities. On the facade of the Stamford Clock Tower, festival-goers can enjoy The Melting Pot, a kaleidoscopic ode to Singapore’s multicultural communities, co-created by illustrator and visual artist, Adeline Tan and award-winning DJ, Benedict Teo; and Madeleine, a pop art style piece by Lueur, a collective of five students from the School of Film & Media Studies at Ngee Ann Polytechnic, that takes audiences on a journey through the stories of the BBB district. Blending audio and visual mediums, Through Worlds by Jo Ho and Intrigant will light up the facade of CHIJMES Hall, showcasing an imaginative world of endless possibilities. Audiences can immerse in multiple perspectives within the history and hypothetical, imagined future of CHIJMES and the area around it.

Night Lights | Seeing everyday spaces in a new light

6 Night Lights makes its return with 15 installations dotted around the BBB precinct, bringing to life everyday spaces that festival-goers are familiar with in the day but may not have experienced in the beauty of the night. The installations will shine a light on the precinct's rich history and heritage with Night Lights like Paddy Fields by FARM, inspired by rice cultivators along Sungei Brass Brassa; and An Ocean Without The Anchor by Speak Cryptic, that pays homage to the Bugis people and their history as seafarers.

7 In response to SNF 2022's theme Rebirth, installations also prompt audiences to reflect upon poignant themes relevant to modern-day issues. We can no longer be strangers after this by Perception3, located outside the National Museum of Singapore, highlights the shifts and changes in the post-pandemic experience; while Celebration of Life+Style by Justin Lee, situated at the Stamford Arts Centre, is a tongue-in-cheek juxtaposition of traditional Eastern characters with modern elements calling into question the impact of technology on our daily lives. City of Books, a large-scale anamorphic pavement mural by Fish Jaafar, sheds light on the decline of print media.

8 The festival also expands to Fort Canning Park this year, showcasing works that festival-goers can enjoy at any time of the day. tobyato bird pitstop by tobyato is an artistic nod to Singapore's rich bird biodiversity, inspired by the William Farquhar Collection of Natural History Drawings, inviting festival-goers to rediscover the well-trodden park by night. Also in the park, Under My Tree Roof is artist Chloë Manasseh's first voyage into translating her artwork into a digital print displayed on the iconic Fort Canning Spiral Stairway.

Performances | Celebrating the vibrancy of the precinct

9 Festival-goers can also look forward to an exciting line-up of performances at five different locations across both weekends during the festival, which celebrate the diverse and vibrant performing arts scene in the precinct. Yesterday Once More: Queen Street by Inch Chua and Tim De Cotta will dive deep into the history of the precinct, spotlighting personal stories from past and present inhabitants, including a young mother who previously sold noodles along the street come rain or shine; and Aunty Cecilia, who lived through the Japanese Occupation on Queen Street and still resides there today. Armenian Street Party will feature a special catwalk stage at Armenian Street with BBB's very own artists and arts groups taking the limelight, including Bhaskar's Arts Academy, The A Cappella Society, Traditional Arts Centre Ltd, OM The Arts Centre, and SMU Voix. At Waterloo Centre, P7:1SMA's roving act Discoloo Centre will relive the precinct's past nightlife paired with historical anecdotes of disco fever. About the Bras Basah.Bugis

The Bras Basah.Bugis (BBB) precinct, is Singapore's arts, heritage and design precinct, home to the greatest concentration of museums, historic monuments, heritage buildings, places of worship, arts groups, arts schools, and lifestyle malls in the city centre. One of the oldest districts in Singapore, Bras Basah served as a suburb in the 1800s and early 1900s to the busy city centre located around Raffles Place today; while the Bugis area was notorious as a haunt for sailors and transvestites.

More recently, BBB has evolved into the centre for education, arts, design and heritage, with major attractions like the National Museum of Singapore, the Singapore Art Museum, the Peranakan Museum, The Substation Arts Centre and the National Design Centre located here.

Singapore Management University, LASALLE College of the Arts, School of the Arts and the Nanyang Academy of Fine Arts are also situated here. BBB's architecture is a unique and exhilarating mix of old and new, with churches and cathedrals such as the Armenian Church of Saint Gregory of the Illuminator, colourful Chinese and Hindu temples, and colonial-era buildings standing alongside stunning pieces of contemporary architecture like that of the School of the Arts (Singapore's only high school for the arts) and the National Library.

BBB is also a lifestyle destination, with its many malls and lifestyle/F & B clusters such as CHIJMES, The Cathay, Bugis Junction and Bugis Street capitalising on heritage, design and the arts for a distinctive shopping experience. BBB also has a vibrant events calendar, with exhibitions and festivals taking place all year round, culminating in the annual Singapore Night Festival in August where Singaporeans and visitors alike take to the streets, literally, to celebrate and party through the night.
