

Examples of Respectful and Disrespectful Use of the National Flag: General Use

National Flag Display
1	The National Flag should always be displayed with the crescent moon and five stars at the corner of the upper left red section of the National Flag near the pole, except where military or international aviation/naval protocol prescribe otherwise. The National Flag should not be flown or displayed upside-down.
2	When displayed against a vertical wall or flat surface, the National Flag should be displayed with the crescent and stars on the top position as seen by a person facing the National Flag from the outside of the building.

Handling of National Flag

- 1 The National Flag should not be placed on the floor as this act can dirty the National Flag.

- 2 The National Flag should not be damaged via physical means such as burning, cutting, and shredding.

- 3 When displayed from homes, the National Flag should not be obscured or overlapped by laundry or footwear.

4	The National Flag should be properly disposed by packing it into a sealed black trash bag without the National Flag being visible in the dustbins.

National Flag Use
1	Any National Flag produced should not deviate from the original design, as that would change its significance.
2	The National Flag should not be used as a daily household item such as a tablecloth, doormat, or towel, which could dirty and damage the National Flag.
3	The material of the National Flag should not be reworked, upcycled, or converted into any form of clothing/covering.
