

RECRUITMENT FOR MUSEUM EDUCATOR-GUIDES

The National Museum of Singapore (NMS) is seeking retired educators and freelance educators to be trained as Museum Educator-Guides to facilitate learning journeys for lower secondary school students at the museum.

As a Museum Educator-Guide, you can look forward to

- Presentations on the National Museum of Singapore, and the new learning journey that is tied to History and National Education learning objectives
- Workshops to equip you with the skills for story-telling and museum guiding
- Acquiring knowledge on how the museum's artefacts can support inquiry-based learning
- Interaction with students and teachers on the topics of Singapore history and heritage

Apply NOW if you are someone who

- Has a keen interest in Singapore history and heritage, and is passionate about museums
- Has a good understanding of the secondary school History and Character and Citizenship Education curriculums
- Has teaching experience of least 3 years, preferably in the subject of history, and/or experience in facilitating tours in relation to history/ National Education
- Communicates well in English and enjoys interacting with students
- Can commit to the training programme (estimated 5 sessions) and guiding regularly for NMS for at least 1 year. Museum Educator-Guides will receive a remuneration of $30/ hour

Details on application, training and guiding:

- Application period: October 2017 to 5 January 2018
- Training period: 26 February to May 2018
- Guiding period: During school terms, from May to November 2018

Email nhb_nm_schools@nhb.gov.sg to apply for this programme now! Shortlisted applicants will be notified for an interview.