

STORY J U M B L E

Kusu Island

SINGAPORE PHILATELIC MUSEUM

The Kusu Island story is illustrated in a set of 4 stamps below. Read the parts, cut them out and glue them in the correct order.

STRIP (A)

The two friends never saw the turtle again. However, it has been said that people who later visited the island have seen the magnificent creature resting on the shores under the peaceful, sunny sky. Today, the island is called Kusu Island.

STRIP (B)

A giant turtle appeared and invited the Chinese fisherman to climb onto its back. The turtle then swam to a deserted island. The island became the Chinese fisherman's new home.

STRIP (C)

A long time ago, there lived a poor Chinese fisherman who went out to fish. A storm came. The fisherman lost his balance and fell into the water.

STRIP (D)

Months passed and a poor Malay fisherman fell victim to another storm. Again, the giant turtle rescued the Malay fisherman and brought him to the same deserted island. The Chinese fisherman welcomed the Malay fisherman. They became good friends.

Correct Order: STRIP (C) > STRIP (B) > STRIP (D) > STRIP (A)